

Monthly Bulletin

May 2015

Shot by police officer was accidental

A police officer fired an accidental shot after his gun struck the driver's side window of a car believed to contain armed paramilitaries, an investigation by the Police Ombudsman has concluded.

The incident happened in south Belfast on 6 November 2013. No one was hurt and no firearms were recovered, but four men were arrested and two knuckle dusters and a wooden baton were recovered from the vehicle.

Officer disciplined for shaking youth

Ombudsman address to senior officers

Police made proper enquiries into missing person

Quarterly Statistical Update to 31st March 2015

Complaint against police driver upheld

Guest lecture to QUB Criminology students

Queen's University
Belfast

facebook PoliceOmbudsmanNI

@PONIPressOffice

YouTube PoliceOmbudsmanNI

www.policeombudsman.org

11 Church Street
BELFAST
BT1 1PG
02890 828600

info@policeombudsman.org